BUILDING THE FAMILY OF BRANDS

THE SUPER, NATURAL BRITISH COLUMBIA
IMPORTANCE TO THE TOURISM INDUSTRY

THE SUPER, NATURAL BRITISH COLUMBIA BRAND FAMILY

We are expanding the Super, Natural British Columbia® brand family.

Together with Indigenous Tourism BC, the Ministry of Tourism, Arts, Culture and Sport, and Regional Destination Marketing Organizations, and with the support of communities throughout the province, Destination BC (DBC) is branding, marketing, and supporting the development of globally compelling routes and places that span the entire province through the Invest in Iconics Strategy. The strategy aims to inspire visitors to visit more places in the province at more times of the year, which benefits communities and residents alike.

DBC is packaging and developing iconic travel routes and places in a powerful way to make them world-famous destinations that rise above the competitive noise and vacation choices. Through place branding and destination development, these new routes and places will offer remarkable experiences to travellers as they hit the road, rail, or trails to explore our province.

The Super, Natural British Columbia brand family now includes two new brands:

Rainforest to Rockies
The Great Wilderness

And brands in development will focus on:

Southeast BC
 Southern Valleys
 West Coast
 Central BC
 Vancouver and Fraser Valley

Super, Natural British Columbia* is the parent brand.

Each new brand will be recognizable as part of the Super, Natural British Columbia (SNBC) brand family.

Similar to a parent-child relationship, the new brands will share certain features with the SNBC brand, both at the strategy and the brand identity level. This shared structure will ensure they remain connected and aligned. The sibling brands will maintain a difference from SNBC and each other, similar to teenagers who have their own personality, but also belong to the family.

IMPORTANCE TO THE TOURISM INDUSTRY

We all have a part to play in building these new brands, but tourism businesses are at the very heart of its success. It is your products and services that visitors come to experience.

That's why taking part in bringing the new brand to life is essential. By supporting and connecting your business with the The Great Wilderness brand, you can better support the visitor experience and leverage revenue opportunities. Added together, our compounded messaging and impressions will help us to better be heard and seen worldwide.

These guidelines provide essential brand attributes, whether working with a well-established tourism business or exploring the potential of a fresh idea that will attract or retain visitors to your area.

SUMMARY

ABOUT THE GREAT WILDERNESS

The Great Wilderness stretches across the northernmost part of the province, and is home to seemingly endless nature and abundant wildlife. From the Coast Mountain Range in the west to the Alberta border in the east, and from Highway 16 to the Yukon border, its vast lands, open skies and endless roads make this one of the world's last great wildernesses.

The Great Wilderness encourages travellers to rediscover their sense of adventure as they step out of the ordinary into the extraordinary. It's a place where nature feels at its biggest and most alive—mountains and giant glaciers, volcanoes laying on valleys of lava, northern lights and remote hot springs, and wildlife spanning bear, moose, caribou, bison and eagles. Here, perspectives shift and the feeling of accomplishment is the reward for those that push beyond where many go.

Explore the ancient history and modern culture of the Indigenous Peoples who call this land home, experience meditation in motion on an epic road trip, or pursue an adrenaline-inducing adventure—hiking, river rafting, horse backing and more—in some of the world's most pristine and protected wildernesses. As you move through The Great Wilderness, you'll hear the call to connect to something greater than yourself.

STONE OF VOICE

BRAND VOICE

Each of the Super, Natural British Columbia (SNBC) family brands, including The Great Wilderness, shares the voice attributes of the parent brand. Each brand also has one unique voice attribute, not shared with its siblings or parent brand.

The current SNBC brand voice attributes are:

EVOCATIVE

We're storytellers and story-makers. We speak in a way that paints a picture of our place and people to earn attention and intrigue.

ACTIVE

We're always ready to get out there and try new things from laid-back to exhilarating and everything in between. We speak confidently so others are encouraged to join in the moment.

OPEN

We seek out new points of view and welcome fresh thinking. We speak with curiosity to learn and appreciate all the unique perspectives each person brings to their BC experience.

UPLIFTING

We approach every moment with a bright outlook. We speak with warmth and show up in a way that makes people feel welcome and engaged.

In addition to these Super, Natural British Columbia brand voice attributes, The Great Wilderness has the following unique voice characteristic:

WISE

We see, hear, and feel deeply. We draw our strength and wisdom from a life spent in sync with the elements. We speak calmly and encouragingly, revealing to others what they already know but have yet to discover.

Our Wise is:

confident · gentle · knowledgeable · relatable
adventurous · encouraging · reassuring

Our Wise is not:

passive · condescending · careless · distant
superior · arrogant · didactic

WISE IS IN OUR NATURE

Amid the silence of remote northern landscapes, The Great Wilderness emerges—sublime and commanding. We are captivated by its boundless adventures and humbled by its ancient wonders.

We are the knowledgeable companion who walks through this landscape, sharing insights without condescension or arrogance. We speak thoughtfully and deliberately, amplifying the power of every word.

The Great Wilderness encourages self-reflection, revealing to travellers what they already know but have yet to discover. We aren't afraid to philosophize or explore the greater meaning that comes with a shift in perspective.

Our tone is inspired by Indigenous storytelling. The wind, the mountains, the rivers—they are integral to our vocabulary. We journey freely through landscapes and legends, weaving tales that bring to life the beating heart of The Great Wilderness.

We are humbled by the people, landscapes, and wildlife of The Great Wilderness, and our messaging conveys our respect and awe.

To use a wise voice in brand communications, consider whether you are moved by your messaging. Speak confidently and evocatively, earning rather than seeking attention. Allow words to spark curiosity, emboldening audiences to turn their attentions north.

Wise knows when it is needed. We are grounded in the voice of our parent brand, allowing wise to surface with purpose.

KEY MESSAGING

KEY MESSAGING

The following are fundamental messaging that communicate the core aspects of the brand. They represent what we want to say to our potential visitors, but how we say it will vary. These messages can be communicated in any number of ways, for example with a visual, a short headline, or through a story.

KEY MESSAGE 1:

Experience an extraordinary land.

Considered one of the world's last great wildernesses, this vast northern land is filled with open skies and endless roads. It's a place of epic proportions where travellers can truly feel the power of the elements. Through the experience of immersing yourself in majestic mountains, sleeping volcanoes and valleys of lava, northern lights, giant glaciers, and remote hot springs, while sharing space with an abundance of wildlife—from bear, to moose, to caribou, elk, and bison—The Great Wilderness is a place to disconnect from the ordinary to be moved by the extraordinary.

KEY MESSAGE 2:

Get into something greater.

The Great Wilderness is a place that beckons travellers to trade schedules and routines for an adventure like no other. It's a place where nature feels at its biggest and most alive. When surrounded by these ancient lands, you'll sense a shift in perspective and the rush of accomplishment for having pushed beyond where many go. Allow the wilderness to speak to your soul, and hear the call to experience something much greater than yourself.

KEY MESSAGE 3:

Encounter spirited characters.

The Great Wilderness is home to many Indigenous communities, whose Peoples have nurtured the land for millennia. Immerse yourself in these diverse and unique cultures and get ready to meet the strong and resilient people who call this place home. Their stories, legends, way of life and wisdom will deepen your understanding of yourself and the natural world.

KEY MESSAGE 4:

Take the road less travelled.

The Great Wilderness lends itself perfectly to road tripping. Whether you begin your journey at Mile 0 of the famed Alaska Highway (#97), traverse British Columbia along the Yellowhead Highway (#16), meander along the Glacier Highway (#37A) or follow The Great Northern Circle Route, these long stretches of open road are a meditation in motion, inviting you to roam freely and breathe deeply.

KEY MESSAGE 5:

Discover your adventurous spirit.

There are many ways to experience adventure in The Great Wilderness. Whether it's a multi-day hike where dinosaurs once roamed, a horse packing excursion in one of North America's largest protected areas, or a thrilling river rafting trip through a UNESCO World Heritage Site, this is an area that welcomes your adventurous spirit. Those interested in shorter pursuits will find day hikes to waterfalls, wildlife encounters, treks to see lava beds, and freshwater fishing all within easy reach.

DEFINING WILDERNESS

We define wilderness as: a vast natural area where people can connect with nature on a deeper level. Part of this deeper connection is an understanding that humans don't exist separately from these extraordinary places, but are part of the same natural ecosystem. Importantly, these lands are not 'untouched' - Indigenous peoples have inhabited and lived in harmony with these lands since time immemorial.

Through our communications about these wilderness spaces in BC, we can positively contribute to a shift away from a more traditional, colonial perspective on wilderness as places that are 'untouched', 'uninhabited' or 'pristine'.

How we'd like the visitor to feel: Though I might feel solitude in the vastness of this place, I am not alone - I am connected to nature and to those who were here before me.

EXPERIENCE & STORYTELLING THEMES

BRAND PILLARS AND EXPERIENCE THEMES / STORYTELLING THEMES

Pillars are a great starting place for industry to evaluate how their experience fits into the new brand. Each pillar is connected to an experience theme to express what they stand for at an experience level, becoming a useful tool to draw from for storytelling in marketing or destination development. They help us focus our efforts and priorities and build a strong, cohesive brand experience. But they aren't meant to limit us. If you have ideas outside these pillars tell us how you think you can bring the brand to life for visitors.

COLOUR

PRIMARY COLOUR PALETTE

Keeping in theme with the SNBC brand, the colours of The Great Wilderness are inspired by British Columbia’s natural landscapes. These colours lean into the grounded, deep-rooted tones that capture the timeless wisdom our vast nature evokes.

There are three colours that help visually express our rare and epic landscapes, together highlighting the streams and glaciers that stoically carve new paths, as well as the rolling hills and lush forests that call out for people to experience them in The Great Wilderness.

In specific cases where additional highlight colours are needed to complement the The Great Wilderness primary colour palette, please use the SNBC secondary and tertiary colour palette.

This delicate, yet confident colour that hugs both green and blue, captures the revitalized sense of connection we have to nature and the vast, rolling landscapes that separate us from the ordinary here.

This strong, commanding green embodies nature as it has stood for millennia, and the sense of growing wisdom the landscapes provide.
